HILL ASSOCIATION SETS AGENDA FOR MARCH 30 CANDIDATES' NIGHT

As a result of last night's meeting of the Albany Hill Association Arrangement Committee, the following agenda is being announced for the All Candidates Night, which is being held at the Cornell School Auditorium on Friday night, March 30, at 8 p.m. This meeting, which the public is urged to attend, will be opened with greetings from Mayor Joe Carlevaro, who will be introduced by moderator Eldon Parr. The agenda running for the office of police will speak first, followed by candidates running for School Board, City Attorney, and year Council term, and four for Council term. Candidates will be called in alphabetical order in each group. After each candidate has spoken for a maximum of five minutes, the meeting will be opened to a question and answer period in which the public will be given an opportunity to ask questions of the candidates, who will be given not more than one and one half minutes to answer.

The Arrangements Committee announced that the Albany Recreation Department has made possible the use of their public address system, the Albany Toastmasters Club is donating the use of their electric timer, and other organizations within the city have shifted dates of their special events so that members can attend this All Candidates Night.

After the question and answer period the public is invited to adjourn to the Cornell Cafeteria, where coffee and cookies will be served which are being donated by Association members and others in the community interested in this program. Members in charge of signs and name tags are Nancy Maberry and William Culley, Jr. Hostesses for the evening are Nancy Maberry, Mary Culley, Helen Williams, Mildred Wilson, Ruth Popper and Erma Bremmer.

KNOW YOUR MERCHANTS WEEK IN ALBANY; ENTER ESSAY CONTEST

This is "Know Your Merchant Week" in Albany as the city goes into its second week of the big Chamber of Commerce shop-at-home promotion.

Residents are encouraged to visit local stores, meet the managers and personnel, look over the merchandise and enter an essay contest, Chairman John Pleich has announced.

Subject of the contest will be "My Favorite Salesperson or Store in Albany and Why." The prize for the best entry will be $100 in script, which is worth 10 chances on a new automobile and other prizes to be offered as the promotion ends April 21.

Entries are to be taken or mailed to the Chamber of Commerce office, 1108 Solano Ave.

Other events in forthcoming weeks will be the city-wide Easter Egg Hunt in Memorial Park on April 21, under the chairmanship of Kenneth Forry, and a fashion show, being planned under the direction of Marge Bishop. Chamber President Thomas Gabriele is heading the committee in charge of the trade fair.

Here is the mayor's proclamation for the current week:

Proclamation

WHEREAS, March 27 through April 3, 1962, in continuation of "SHOP IN ALBANY MONTH" has been set aside as "KNOW YOUR MERCHANT" WEEK, and

WHEREAS, Albany Merchants are offering "Out of this World" specials at "Blast Off Prices", and redeemable script for prize certificates, and

WHEREAS, Albany businessmen offer everything that can be found elsewhere and give friendly and personal service.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Joe Carlevaro, Mayor of the City of Albany do hereby proclaim the period of March 27 to April 3 as "KNOW YOUR BUSINESS-MAN WEEK" and urge Albany residents to shop in Albany, get acquainted with Albany merchants, their stores and merchandise, bearing in mind that dollars spent in Albany help to provide the many services you enjoy and help to keep our tax rate down.

Joe Carlevaro
Mayor, City of Albany

Rumford Resolution On School Finances Passes Assembly Monday

News that has more than passing interest in Albany is the fact that Assemblyman W. Byron Rumford's House Resolution 91 reportedly passed the Assembly Monday morning, School Superintendent Kenneth Forry has announced.

The resolution was co-authored by Assemblyman Jerome Waldie, Don Mulford, Carlos Bee, Robert Crown and John T. Knox.

Based on the fact that no less than 10 percent of the pupils enrolled in Albany schools are children of University Village, exempt from taxation, and there is no other source of money to reimburse Albany Unified School District, the resolution directs the State Department of Education, in cooperation with the Department of Finance and the Regents of the University of California, and the governing board of Albany Unified School District to take immediate action to formulate a plan by which the financial burdens on the district, occasioned by the attendance of pupils residing on UC property, can be mitigated and to report to the legislature on or before the fifth calendar day of the 1963 session on plans and steps taken to effectuate it and include any recommendation for legislation.

The resolution points out that high tax rates are necessary to maintain a high quality educational program if the District receives no financial assistance.

AFS Students At Lions Club Dinner

American Field Service students will address members of the Albany Lions Club at their weekly dinner meeting Thursday, March 29, according to Program Chairman Lawrence D. Saler.

Svein Mortenson, a student from Norway who is living with the Arneson family at 1128 Masonic Avenue, will tell of his experiences in America and how this country differs from his own.

Martha Geering, daughter of the Grafton Geerings of Albany, who recently returned after spending six and a half months in Indonesia, will tell her impressions of life there.

Both are exchange students under the American Field Service program.

Mrs. Grafton Geering will introduce the speakers during the meeting, which will be held at Cerro Square, headquarters for the Lions Club.

DAN C. MOODY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Moody, who underwent surgery at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital is now recuperating at his home at 917 Pierce Street. He came home Monday.

LITTLE MISS MUFFIN — Albany's Jackie Reckas, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Reckas of 842 Key Route Boulevard, has been selected as the Bay Area's Little Miss Muffin by the Retail Bakers' Association and has won an expense-paid trip with her mother to Philadelphia in April to attend the national convention. If she wins the national title, she will be awarded a $1,000 bond. (Times Photo)

Council Approves Radar System for Police

Members of the Albany City Council Monday night voted unanimously to grant permission to Police Chief Ralph Jensen to purchase a new radar unit for the department at a cost not to exceed $1,500.

Councilman George Hein, liaison to the department, made the motion, describing the present equipment as "obsolete and irreparable," and adding that new equipment is necessary for the safety and welfare of the people in Albany. Councilman Howell seconded the motion, commenting that although the budget is tight, the city must replace obsolete and damaged equipment.

In other matters, the Council accepted a check for $4,585.51 from the State Compensation Insurance Fund, representing a refund on workmen's compensation premiums for the year ending June 30, 1961. Because this indicated a splendid accident prevention record among city employees, Councilman Boyich suggested the mayor and council commend the employees for their fine record. The money will go into the general fund.

The matter of United Vending Corporation requesting permission to solicit for vending machine locations in the city on behalf of the California Council for Retarded Children was referred to City Administrative Officer James B. Turner.

Permission to make an adjustment in the salary of Marian Wolf for work at the Pre-School during the absence of Mrs. Nell Curran was granted Director of Recreation E. J. Rooney.

A letter from Stanley D. Wilkins of 1316 Portland Avenue criticizing Council members and members of the Park and Recreation Commission for a pipe repair job in Memorial Park in 1959 was read. Councilman Lewis Howell said the matter had been fully discussed at the time and that if there had been fraud involved, as Wilkins charged, he should have preferred charges. A letter from Clayton G. Berling, member of the Park and Recreation Commission, in answer to the original charges was read. There was no Council action on the matter.

A request from the Weldonian Band for a donation to send the band to the Seattle World Fair was denied with regret.

Paul R. Cowles of Berkeley announced he was to have presented his tentative plan for rapid and local transportation to San Mateo County Supervisors March 20. C. H. Herzog asked that his request to operate a used car lot be cancelled.

The Council heard a report on Rapid Transit from Turner, who told of repeating Albany's objections to the Santa Fe routing at a meeting last week. He said that he and Mayor Carlevaro had arrived at a time when the Transit District was considering the problem caused by Marin County's decision to remain in the district, which will leave the district in a precarious financial position. There is a special meeting this week between transit officials and Marin County Supervisors, Turner said.

Boyich reported on his trip to Sacramento Monday, when he learned that there is action pending to reimburse Albany for the costs of education of children from University Village. He said he had suggested that the legislature consider compensation to the city for services rendered to the Village and that there seems a good chance for this. The 1963 legislature should have action on the matter, Boyich said, adding that the approach taken by Albany and the Superintendent of Schools has been the correct one.

OFFICIALS WIN DELAY IN BLIND CENTER ACTION IN SACRAMENTO

Representatives of the Albany City Council, following a special session at 8:30 in the morning, appeared in Sacramento Monday to ask the Public Works Board to hold off any action on selection of a site for the Orientation Center for the Blind until after a public hearing in Albany on April 16.

Mayor Joe Carlevaro and Administrative Officer James B. Turner were officially designated to represent Albany. Councilman Paul Boyich accompanied them to Sacramento. During the morning session, Council members agreed that Albany wants the center, but not on the proposed site on the northerly end of Adams. The representatives were to ask the state to consider locating on state-owned rather than privately-owned land. At the morning session, the Council discussed other possible sites in the Buchanan Street area, eliminating the triangular piece of University of California land which will be left when Buchanan is extended to Marin, which is top choice for the site of future civic buildings.

In their report to the Council Monday night, the representatives said they had been successful in their mission to delay state action until after the public hearing after much discussion and over the objection of S. W. Patterson, assistant chief of special schools and services for the State Department of Education. Patterson pointed out that they had been subjected to many delays and this is another which will create more problems for them.

In answer to a question by Councilman Lewis Howell, Mayor Carlevaro said they had not discussed with state representatives the piece of land offered west of Coolidge Avenue and south of the Department of Agriculture building.

(The public hearing, which has caused controversy among Council members for several weeks, automatically was set for April 16 at a special Council meeting last Wednesday morning, when an opinion from City Attorney Robert J. Foley was read. It was the City Attorney's opinion that a previous amendment to hold the public hearing April 16 added to a motion to hold the hearing in two weeks in effect replaced the original motion and was a legal action.)

Regarding the site, Mayor Carlevaro said the state has checked 30 sites in the area and the proposed Adams-Madison area is the "top site" as far as the state is concerned.

Julius Capeluto, chairman of the dinner, said the team finished in second place. "Coach Craig Ortlieb and the team had the first place team literally holding its breath, so the Albany boys deserve a hearty pat on the back for a job well done," he said.

Education Board Reviews Village Problem

Albany's school situation with regard to educating children living in University Village was reviewed by members of the Board of Education last night in a special meeting at Child Care Center in the Village.

During the session, the board adopted a resolution requesting the Alameda County Board of Education to recommend to the State Department of Education authorization for an emergency appropriation as added apportionment in the amount of $75,000 for fiscal 1962-'63. Superintendent Kenneth M. Forry is to present the resolution to the county board Thursday.

The Albany district has noted that 500 new units will be built on University-owned land for married students. The number of children attending Albany schools is expected to increase from about 135 to about 300.

Members of the board have authorized Forry to meet with consultants on a proposed junior college district survey involving school districts in Albany, Emeryville and Berkeley. A possible solution would be to annex to the junior college districts in Contra Costa or Alameda Counties. The meeting of school representatives is to be April 9 in Oakland.

Board of Education members have taken no action or committed themselves in any way on the much-discussed bond issue, Forry said. The problem of what to do about four buildings at Albany High School which are structurally unsound is to be turned over to a Citizens' Committee for review, study and recommendation, he stressed.

THE JOHN MULLARKEYS of 1008 Cornell probably don't care if they EVER see snow again. On March 17, they and several of their seven children joined a group which chartered a bus to go to the snow near Sonoma. Agnes and John were tobogganing on separate toboggans. Both were injured in upsets. Agnes suffered a broken back and was in the Sonoma hospital until last Monday, when she was brought by ambulance to Albany Hospital. She was to have been put in a cast Friday and she'll be hospitalized for a while. John was not seriously injured. Meanwhile, the family is being looked after by Agnes' mother and "the neighbors have been just wonderful."

Only 2 DSA Nominations Received

Only two nominations have been received by Jaycee DSA Chairman Bill Johnson for Albany's outstanding young man. The deadline is March 31.

The award will be presented at a banquet at Kirby's Friday, April 13. Albany Jaycees have urged the public to attend.

Nomination blanks are available at the Albany Chamber of Commerce and are to be submitted before the Saturday deadline to Chairman Johnson at 1108 Solano.

R. G. Buckwalter Albany Chairman for Names On Anti-Red Petitions

Ralph G. Buckwalter, of 655 Spokane, one of Albany's most vocal foes of communism, has been named Albany chairman in a statewide campaign to secure 422,000 signatures on initiative petitions for a state constitutional amendment to curb communist activities in California. Alameda County Chairman Kenneth Steadman has announced that he hopes to have this county's 600 petitions completed by April 24, the first date for filing.

If sufficient signatures are obtained, the amendment will appear on the November ballot. In essence, the amendment would define communist action and communist front organizations as those directly advocating and promoting the overthrow of the government by force or violence and those giving aid and comfort to that procedure.

It would require that they be established as such by a State Court, the State attorney general, a county grand jury or some responsible agency of the United States government.

These groups would be barred from appearing as a political party. Members would be prohibited from holding public office or teaching positions, from using public buildings and from tax exemptions. Teachers would be required to answer questions by responsible governmental agencies regarding communist activity.

Sponsored by the Californian's Committee to Combat Communism, a non partisan group composed of people from all walks of life, the measure recently was endorsed by 55 ministers of Northern California churches.

Buckwalter said anyone desiring to sign the petition may contact him at his home, 655 Spokane (LA 5-0297) or any of the following people: John Johnson, 1503 Posen (LA 5-7687); Helen M. Lindberg, 1286 Solano, (LA 4-4033); V. M. Chester, 1037 Peralta (LA 6-6777), or H. F. Call at Call Brothers Jewelers on San Pablo Avenue.

"I thoroughly investigated the Anti-Subversive Activities Initiative Amendment and those behind it before I agreed to accept this job," Buckwalter said. "The American Legion is in favor of it, although they're not sponsoring it. A lot of great Californians are working on it and I'm proud to be part of the team!"

MR. AND MR. JOHNNIE G. LEE of El Cerrito are the parents of a son born March 22 at Alta Bates Hospital. The baby's father is the "Lee" of Berkeley-Lee Volkswagen in Albany.

"LUNCHEON IS SERVED" is the title of the fund-raising luncheon at the Albany Masonic Temple Monday noon, April 2, for the J. Clifford Lee Cancer Fund, honoring the memory of a past grand patron of the State of California who died of cancer several years ago. Florence Bates, worthy matren, has announced donations will be $1. The temple is at 533 San Pablo Avenue.

CITY CLERK MYRTLE J. McLEAN has asked this newspaper to convey her thanks to all the people who so kindly replied to the appeal in last week's Times for extra election workers. "The generous response was greatly appreciated," she said, "and though the 'extra list' now exceeds the anticipated need, all applications will be carefully considered and retained for possible future use."

HELEN READ, a member of the Republican State Central Committee, will be guest speaker at the meeting of Albany Council of Republican Women at 8 p.m. Monday, April 2, at Cornell teachers' lunch room. Edith Sheriff, president, will preside at the business meeting.

BRIAN CHAMNESS, four, of 1199 Santa Fee attended a birthday party recently at the home of Mrs. Pat Lupo of 812 Ramona. Apparently he became bored, leaving without notice. Officer Bernard Johnson searched the east portion of Albany without results. Later the Berkeley Police Department called to say Brian was at the station. A woman motorist had found him at The Alameda and Capistrano!

As Albany Police Officer Jim Harris was patrolling San Pablo at 1:37 a.m. Monday, he noticed a white car with motor running and lights out at Times Service Station at 1107 San Pablo. Then he observed the outline of a person inside and the doors of the station open. Turning his spotlight on the station, Harris went inside. The man, Conrad Walter of 1427 Grant in Berkenely, machine shop instructor at Alhambra High School in Martinez, said he was checking the building. He later admitted to breaking the lock by using a pair of bolt cutters. There were numerous tools in his car, Officer Harris reported. The man was arrested by Harris and Sgt. Emil Zugnoni and charged with burglary with bail set at $1,500. He was arraigned Monday afternoon. The case was continued and he was lodged in county jail.

JACK MEZIROW, an administrator with the University of California for helping underdeveloped countries, will be guest speaker of the Kiwanis Club of Albany - North Berkeley at its luncheon meeting to be held at 12:10 noon on Thursday, March 29 at the Red Barn.

Winding up last week's house parties, Saler spoke to gatherings at the homes of the Grafton Steerings, 1439 Marin Avenue and William Chambers, 1126 Masonic Avenue.

GEORGE C. HEIN

George C. Hein Files For City Council

George C. Hein, local businessman, has filed candidacy papers for the Albany City Council. Hein, an incumbent, was unanimously appointed last year to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Jerome Blank and has filed for the two-year term of office.

He is vice mayor of the current council and serving as Fire and Police Commissioner.

The Councilman is a charter member of the Albany High 12 Club, a former member of the executive board of the Machinists Union No. 824 of Richmond, was employed 10 years by Standard Oil of California in the Richmond refinery. He is chairman of the board of directors of the United Tavern Owners Association, a member of the Masonic Lodge of Palo Alto and the Oakland Scottish Rite, past president of the Bay Area Eagles, past vice president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, and a former member of the Albany Parks and Recreation Commission.

Hein, a businessman at 905 San Pablo Avenue for the past 17 years, lives with his wife, Mildred, at 817 Madison. They have a son, Richard, a graduate of Albany High School, and two grandsons.

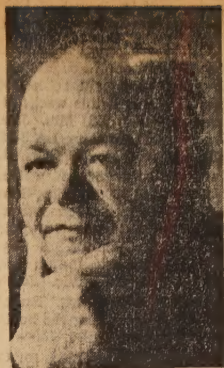

Throughout his 32 years as an Albany resident, Hein has advocated and promoted civic projects.

Hein states that he is running for re-election because he feels there are so many important projects or "irons in the fire" to be completed, including:

1. Rapid Transit. "I am opposed to the present transit plan of following the Santa Fe tracks through Albany. This plan would split Albany in half and remove thousands of dollars from the tax rolls, also ruin the residential district on each side of the right-of-way. I recommend Rapid Transit go either down San Pablo underground, which also in emergency could be used as a public fallout shelter, or down along the waterfront where there are no existing buildings."

2. Extension of Marin through Gill Tract to Buchanan. 3. Completion of Buchanan overpass to cross over S.P. tracks at Cleveland Street. 4. Acquiring the corner of Gill Tract which will be created by the Marin cut-through for new city buildings which are so desperately needed. 5. To see that the Albany city dump is again open to Albany citizens in order to save the city the $5,000 per year now paid to Berkeley for the use of their dump.

"There are numerous other projects," Hein said, adding, "I will continue to work for harmony and progress within the city council, although I want it clearly understood I vote on the issue as I see it without aligning myself with anyone."

PAUL R. BOYICH

Paul R. Boyich Files For City Council

Paul R. Boyich, who was appointed to the Albany City Council about two years ago following the resignation of Ray Cirimeli, is seeking election to the Council for a two-year term.

A resident of Albany for about seven years, Boyich owns his home at 721 Adams. He is a former member of the Albany Planning and Zoning Commission, the Board of Education's Citizens Advisory Committee, the Hill Association and the Albany Citizens' Committee. Among other interests are Bay View Lodge 2323, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and Elks Lodge 1251. He is a member in good standing of Local 39 of the AFL-CIO.

Before coming to California in 1938, he lived for about 20 years in Ohio. He attended Kent State University and Akron Law School in Ohio as well as Contra Costa Junior College and the University of California Extension School in the Bay Area. When he lived in Oakland, Boyich was a member of the board of directors for the Mayor's Committee for Urban Renewal.

Following is Boyich's statement regarding the coming election:

"Since assuming the office of Councilman approximately 18 months ago, I have exerted every effort to serve you honestly, intelligently and well. This has been accomplished on your behalf without any personal enrichment financially for me; although, the experience emotionally has been wonderfully rewarding.

"During my time as your Councilman, I have introduced or voted for measures for your protection and interest in the following fields: finance and budgetary responsibility and consistent requirements for a balanced budget. The deficit spending suggestion of my opponents would place on all of us a terrible tax burden both as to property and sales taxes in our city, both of which are now among the lowest in Alameda County. My close cooperation with our senior citizens with the excellent support from our legislative friends in Sacramento, has meant that we have been successful in obtaining for Albany the highest appropriation in matching state funds. This Senior Citizens' Building will serve as a source of pride and pleasure for all of us and will be owned by the City of Albany at no cost. A bill for the intelligent administration and development of Albany's tidelands was passed during the last legislative session, thus removing this invaluable area from the arena of private speculation and personal exploitation. The efforts of Mayor Carlevaro, City Councilman Hein and myself and our continued determination to have this law with the able assistance of our legislative friends has for the first time put Albany in a position where it can develop and obtain substantial revenues from city property.

"As Council representative to the Recreation Department, my aim has been to give Albany the best recreation program for their money, and I have consistently promoted more park and open spaces, especially parks and children's playground west of San Pablo.

"Working in the closest of goodwill and cooperation with our fine Mayor and our great Councilman, George Hein, I have voted with the majority to achieve stable, intelligent and responsible government for our city. It is my great personal wish to be able, during the next two years, to continue this program and see some of our decisions through to their final conclusion.

LEWIS M. HOWELL

Lewis M. Howell Files For City Council

Lewis M. (Lew) Howell, who has been a member of Albany City Council for 10 years and served six years as mayor of Albany, has filed to succeed himself for another four years.

Buyer and advertising manager for Park and Shop Markets, Howell has been an Albany resident for 30 years. He and his wife, Hazel, and three of their five children live at 1079 Peralta. Marilyn attends Marin School; Lynn, Albany High; and Diane, Jack and Donald, all AHS graduates. Diane is at UC in Berkeley.

Past president of the East Bay Division of League of California Cities and organizer of the Alameda County Mayor's Conference, of which he was vice president three years, he is former vice president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce. Howell has been active in local civic organizations for 15 years, an East Bay businessman and executive for 32 years, and a member of AFL-CIO for 25 years. He received the Fraternal Order of Eagles Civil Service Award from Bayview Aerie 2323 in 1955.

During Howell's six years as mayor, he instigated many progressive programs, including the organization of the first Senior Citizen Fund Raising committee, appointing Bill Thomas as chairman.

Howell stressed he has consistently resisted attempts to raise municipal taxes that were not vital and necessary for the well-being of the citizens of Albany.

"Among projects I have played an important part in as Councilman over the past 10 years are: expansion of the Albany Pre-School facilities, leasing of playground and community centers, child care, and senior citizens center at UC Village," Howell said. "I played a leading role in establishing funds for the construction of the Albany overpass, off-ramp and the extension of Marin Avenue to the freeway."

Among programs and policies Howell pledges to support if re-elected are: "maintaining home rule; resisting attempts by those among us who believe in communism or who attempt to interfere with our rights and privileges as Americans; support local and rapid transit only if it conforms to the wishes and desires of the majority of our residents; support educational, recreational and cultural activities consistent with taxpayers' desires and ability to pay; continue support of legislation on air pollution, water pollution and other measures to assure a healthy community; "Favor city employees salary and fringe benefits that will attract and retain the best qualified municipal employees; provide a better business climate in commercial areas to attract new businesses of all kinds so necessary for a balanced economy; develop a master plan for the waterfront; leadership, harmony and dignity in the conduct of City Council meetings and the affairs of the city;

"City planning and zoning practices consistent with proven national, state and local standards; a civil defense program that will provide maximum security for children and adults."

JOEL W. PARKER

Joel W. Parker Files For City Council

Joel W. Parker Jr., who was elected to the Albany Council in the special recall election January 17, 1961, with one of the largest votes ever cast for an Albany councilman, has filed to succeed himself in the four-year post.

Born in Clearwater, Florida, February 9, 1930, Parker attended elementary school in Florida, graduating from Vero Beach High School. His higher education was at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Georgia. He served on active duty with the U.S. Marine Corps in 1951-52 and was in the reserves until 1959.

Employed by International Business Machines Corporation in San Francisco for the past 10 years, he is field manager of customer engineering, supervising 15 men.

Parker and his wife, Evelyn, live at 1050 Stannage with their three daughters, Cheryl, 10½; Beth, nine, and Patsy, seven. They have lived in Albany about eight and a half years.

They are members of Albany Methodist Church and the girls attend Cornell School. He is a past member of the Albany Library Board and former secretary of Cornell-Vista Dad's Club.

"I hope I will be elected to continue to serve the people of Albany on their City Council," Parker said. "I am very interested in helping to bring sincere, honest and dignified city government to Albany."

"I feel the responsibility of making decisions at Council level is a serious one, not to be taken lightly or conducted in a raucous atmosphere. It is putting Albany in a bad light when Council sessions are reported as 'rows' and 'hassels'. I do not believe endless talking and speech-making, angry accusations or putting everything on a personal level necessarily are the marks of a competent Councilman. Because I believe actions speak more loudly than words, I stand on my voting record and not on the headlines I've made while serving as your Councilman."

"We have some vital problems in our community. The solution to these problems will come only through the cooperative effort of a unified Council thinking only of the good of Albany."

Roaring 20's Dinner For Pre-School Dads

Albany Pre-School Mothers Club members are planning their annual Dad's Dinner March 31. The potluck dinner will be held at the Cornell School cafeteria and will have a Roaring 20's theme.

Entertainment chairman Dorothy Larimer promises the best of local entertainment, with some surprise guests.

All members of the Mothers Club are urged to attend with their husbands. Special invited guests include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Forry, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rooney, Mrs. Nell Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wolf, Albany High School Principal and Mrs. Harry Price, and Director of Education and Mrs. William G. Woolworth.

THOMAS C. COCK, M.D.

Dr. Thomas Cock Files For School Board

Dr. Thomas C. Cock, who was unanimously appointed to the Board of Education of Albany Unified School District on November 28, has filed for the four-year post.

Born in Alhambra in 1925, he received his early education in San Gabriel and Alhambra public schools, graduating in 1943. He served with the United States Air Force from 1943-48, as combat navigator, ETO; Trans Pacific instructor navigator, and administrative inspector. Entering George Washington University, he received his AA in 1950; BA, 1952, and MD, 1955.

Dr. Cock was resident physician at Children's Hospital of the East Bay in Oakland from 1956-58; a fellow in pediatric cardiology, 1957-59; Oakland schools physician, 1959-60, and has been a practicing child specialist since 1958.

A member of the American Board of Pediatrics, student of curriculum and school economics and constant advocate of good city government, Dr. Cock is the father of four children. The family lives at 1332 Portland Avenue.

This is Dr. Cock's statement of principle:

"Responsibility is a major aspect of Board of Education membership. This responsibility extends in many directions.

"Curriculum responsibility includes the constant review of subject matter taught, with decisions as to needed emphasis and continuing improvements. Community and national needs, and particularly, the needs of the individual child are the factors evaluated.

"Review of state legislation and interpretation of policy form another area of responsibility. The need of legislators to know the opinions and decisions of local boards is vital to preparation of clearer and more workable legislation.

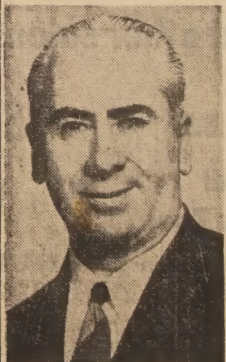

"Fiscal responsibility is the obligation which is without question, that most closely scrutinized by the electorate. In a community like Albany, with a group of residents whose income is relatively fixed, despite the general upward economic drift, this duty to carefully watch the expenditure of school funds is of primary concern.

"The Board member must know and explore all sources of funds; he must carefully review all budgets; he must consider very cautiously and conscientiously all needs of capital outlay (either school plant additions or replacements) and he must insist on sound business management within the district.

"The responsibility for children, particularly their health and safety, is my vocation. As a pediatrician, I am continuously called to plan and consult concerning children's growth and development. My general interest in this development obviously extends into and is inseparable from their education. As a Board of Education member, I strive to meet my responsibilities as they have been generally stated. My interest in children and their education continues to grow with each new experience, and my desire to serve them is unswerving."

CHARLES A. PINKHAM

Charles Pinkham Files For School Board

Charles A. Pinkham, member of the Board of Education since 1955 and president of the Board since 1957, has announced his candidacy to succeed himself for another four years.

A resident of Albany since 1946, Pinkham is a foreign freight forwarder in San Francisco. He was a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission from 1952 to February, 1955, resigning as secretary of the body to accept appointment to the Board of Education to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Philip Meads. He was elected to a two-year term in April, 1956, and to a four-year term in April, 1958.

Pinkham was a member of the Albany Schools Advisory Committee for two years prior to his appointment to the Board of Education.

Pinkham is married and has two children. The family home is at 535 Stannage.

"Albany schools have made great strides and improvements in the last several years," Pinkham said. "As always, however, there are unsolved problems.

There is the financial situation arising from the cost of educating University Village children. There is the building problem at the High School brought about by our discovery that some of the auxiliary buildings are sub-standard. Finally, there are several curriculum problems because of recent state legislative action.

"We must remember that ours are public schools with the obligation to serve all children of the District, not only the academically gifted, but the slower learners as well. We have tried to keep this constantly in mind and provide the best possible educational program within our ability to pay. Our class sizes are being lowered continually to provide more individual attention, and the curriculum is constantly being upgraded. We have attempted to use our money primarily in those areas which would improve instruction. At the same time, we have tried to remain sensitive to the desires and wishes of the people of the community.

"In short, because of this record and the current problems facing the District, we submit that this is a time when continuity, background, and experience on the Board will count more than ever before."

velopment obviously extends into and is inseparable from their education. As a Board of Education member, I strive to meet my responsibilities as they have been generally stated. My interest in children and their education continues to grow with each new experience, and my desire to serve them is unswerving."

Max D. Kelley Files For School Board

Max D. Kelley, 41, an Albany resident for the past 12 years, has filed to succeed himself on the Board of Education, where he has served for the past six years.

Kelley, who holds a BS and MS in chemical engineering from the University of Illinois, is general foreman of the cracking plants in the Richmond refinery of Standard Oil Company of California.

He lives at 628 Stannage Avenue with his wife, Donna, and two children, Wanda, 15½; and David, eight.

Kelley says he is running for reelection because he wishes to continue participating in the effort to "provide for our children the best educational program which our talents and resources can develop."

He "believes in emphasizing fundamental subjects such as English, math, science and social studies. While I am also for a sound program of music, art, physical education, shop courses and foreign language, I feel they are of lesser importance."

Kelley stresses that he has gone on record in support of merit pay for teachers instead of the flat rate schedule which considers only college training and length of service. In addition, he is interested in utilizing electronic and mechanical aids to reduce the teaching load and, if possible, achieve efficiency which would ease the tax burden.

Concerning the need for replacing the woodshop, band and annex building at the high school, Kelley thinks there is no immediate safety hazard, but since the Albany Fire Department as well as state agencies are quite emphatic in pointing out the basic weaknesses of the buildings and the many violations of state law, "the problem must be faced,"

Institute of Social And Personal Relations Relocated in Albany

The Institute of Social and Personal Relations, which has been at 338 Grand Avenue in Oakland, was relocated over the weekend to its new headquarters at 1393 Solano Avenue in Albany.

The non-profit organization offers a consultation program including group counseling, individual and marriage counseling and total family conference. Members may join a cooperative program called the Member Participation Group. MPG members take part in policy making, conducting the business of the group, and developing social and educational programs. Their fee for consultation, based on a sliding scale, will be reduced in proportion to the amount of time they devote to MPG business and they will be eligible for a rebate from profits.

Those interested in learning more about the organization may attend the next general meeting, which will be at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, April 1, in the conference room of Security Savings and Loan. Information may also be obtained by calling Dr. Jack F. Little, Ph.D., senior staff psychologist, or Miss Adena Joy, human relations consultant, at 1393 Solano or by calling LA 6-3882.

Dr. Little was formerly chief psychologist at Oakland Naval Hospital. Miss Joy was human relations specialist at the University of California. Others on the staff are Steven Hunter, M.A., and Steven Polgar, anthropologist at the University of California. Another office is located at 1533 Main in Walnut Creek.

Official authorization for a cooperative structure for the Institute came in January of this year with full governing powers delegated to a voluntary board of directors elected by the general membership. Board members are selected in equal numbers from clients, professional social scientists and community leaders.

Persons of various backgrounds and with many types of problems are working together in the Institute. Regardless of their occupation, religion, race or creed, the main objective is to be aware of their personal relationships and discuss them openly.

Concerning the program, Dr. Little said, "Cooperative membership is the latest step in several years of encouraging clients to accept responsible participation in the conduct of a mental health program. Some mental and correctional institutions are encouraging therapeutic interaction between staff and patients but we believe this has never before been tried in a community counseling service."
